A Shakeup in Newspaper Editions—and Some Reasons

While six of us from The Star were attending the Mid-Winter convention of the Arkansas Press Association, celebrating the group's 100th anniversary, there was a shakeup in one of the Little Rock state papers.

The Arkansas Democrat's Saturday edition switched from the evening to the morning field. Louis Graves speculated in his Nashville News as follows:

"There has been a strong need in Southwest Arkansas for a morning paper with night-before news. This is particularly so on a Saturday after Friday night football games. The problem down here is that the area receives an early edition of the (morning) Arkansas Gazette, containing much 24-hour-old news, some of which has already appeared in print here.

"The Gazette recently installed new press equipment which Orville Henry said was in the making several years ago, but still the Gazette's morning issue is behind with the late news, notably sports.

"Now that the Democrat is going to press with a Saturday morning edition the competition may speed up the Gazette. The development will be interesting."

I'm not second-guessing my friend Louis — and I learned absolutely nothing on this score at the Hot Springs press meeting — but I imagine the Democrat's switch to Saturday morning was for advertising reasons rather than news content.

It is significant that in its promotion of the switch the Democrat announced it would make "Saturday morning delivery," and that was about its only firm commitment.

I doubt very much that the Democrat proposes to run a full Friday night composing room in order to bring late night sports news to Southwest Arkansas. The economic facts are against such speculation.

Saturday afternoon papers lose money. They appear too late for effective Saturday shopping — and too early for Monday shopping. When the consolidated Star (old evening Star of Hope and morning Daily Press) started off Jan. 18, 1929, I established a press-time of noon on Saturday. But for the last 15 years or so we have been putting the Saturday edition to press around 9 a.m., thus giving the advertiser and the shopper nearly a full day's service.

Many of the local dailies in the Southwest have followed our example. I know this because I have had letters from other cities inquiring about our news and shop schedules behind the early press-time on Saturday. It's simple enough. After Friday evening's edition and a coffee break the shop makes up the Saturday paper — leaving a "news hole" for two or three important overnight stories on Page One, and another "news hole" on the sports page for overnight sports. These holes are filled between 7 and 8 a.m. Saturday and the press rolls about 9.

My guess is that the Democrat is thinking in similar terms.

Some evening dailies have eliminated their Saturday edition. But "daily" means to me six editions. Besides, Saturday's paper, if put out early enough, does offer shoppers the service of Saturday and Monday "specials." The Star has done some business on this point. One of the telling facts is that Saturday's edition, being uncrowded, gives advertising a high visibility for the reader.

Getting back to overnight sports: The Gazette used to send the Hope area its three-star or second state edition, which carried news breaking as late as 11 p.m. Now we get the two-star or first edition (there is no one-star edition), with

Cut in bombing in VN ordered

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — President Nixon ordered a halt today to all offensive military operations in North Vietnam "because of the progress made" in Paris peace talks, the Florida White House said.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon's order took effect at 10 a.m. EST and includes "bombing, shelling and any further mining of North Vietnam."

The White House spokesman described the move as "a unilateral gesture" that followed an exhaustive presidential assessment of the negotiations.

Ziegler refused to discuss reports that Henry A. Kissinger, Nixon's peace negotiator, and Hanoi's Le Duc Tho have, for all practical purposes, already reached an accord.

He did say in response to a question:

"Dr. Kissinger will be returning to Paris at some point in the relatively near future."

Asked if North Vietnam had agreed to scale down its military operations in South Vietnam in return for Nixon's military concession, Ziegler said the White House had no information to indicate any change in Hanoi's military strategy.

Ziegler did say Hanoi was aware that progress in the Paris talks could lead to a U.S. move of the type he announced.

Nixon and Kissinger conferred for an hour and a half Monday morning at the President's bayside office here. It was their fourth meeting in two days since Kissinger flew here from Paris early Sunday morning.

Harvest of soybeans is behind schedule

By REBECCA LAZENBY
Of The Star Staff

Hempstead County's soybean growers have lost thousands of dollars trying to harvest this year's crop. An unusually wet growing season has greatly hampered harvesting operations in the area. A survey among the county soybean growers shows only about 60 percent of the county's 26,800 acres of beans have been harvested.

Hempstead County and the surrounding area received more than its share of rain during the usual harvest months of September and October which slowed the harvest operations to a standstill. According to records kept at the Southwest Branch Experiment Station, 5.5 inches of rain fell in September. Normal rainfall for that month is only 2.93 inches.

October brought more bad news. More above normal rainfall was recorded. Experiment station records report 6.26 inches recorded as opposed to the normal of 3.17 inches. Rain continued to fall during the following months further delaying the harvest.

The soybean is not only a farm crop which supplies animal feed, but is also food for human beings and provides an infinite variety of raw materials for industry. Today the soybean is the nation's largest single source of vegetable oil, and of protein meal for livestock. Due to the months of bad weather, livestock owners are now beginning to feel the pinch of rising prices in livestock feed containing soybean meal; the meal is an important additive to livestock feed and adds necessary proteins to the diets of hogs, chickens, cattle, and many other farm animals.

Area livestock owners as well as soybean growers will suffer from the slow bean harvest.

Arkansas is among the 10 leading soybean states and is number one in broiler production with Hempstead the number five county in broiler production. These broiler producers account tremendous volume of feed purchase containing the soybean meal. It has been estimated that soybeans supply more than 40 per cent of all the protein meals fed to livestock in the United States today.

Losses in farm profits occur in many ways. Not only is time of the utmost importance, but also extra expense is incurred when it becomes necessary to employ more field labor. There is also the extra cost of fuel for the trucks, combines and other necessary equipment; and wear and tear on this equipment must also be considered. Some farmers have recently purchased new equipment only to have it stand idle. Interest and payments on this necessary equipment continues even though it is not in use. Extra cost in preparing the wet soggy land for a new crop must also be figured in the profit losses.

Even though the beans have been standing in the fields waiting the harvest their quality has not yet been greatly affected, growers say. They still anticipate the usual 25 to 30 bushel per acre yield in spite of the wet ground.

Only time and good dry weather will tell the outcome of the harvest.

Legislature is expected to begin 'difficult business'

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The 69th Arkansas General Assembly began the second week in session today and was expected to get down to some of its difficult business.

The first week involved formal convening, the administering the oath of office, the formality of Gov. Dale Bumpers' inauguration to a second term and introduction of bills.

The first two measures passed by both chambers appropriated funds to pay expenses of the House and Senate in this session. The bills became Act 1 and 2 of 1973 when they were signed by Bumpers.

The demand by cities and counties for 7 per cent of state's general revenues as turnback money loomed as one of the larger fights expected to develop early in this session.

Under current law, the cities share $6 million and the counties share $6 million, which constitute about 1.9 per cent of the state government's general revenue.

The 7 per cent would give cities and counties between $25 million and $30 million annually on the basis of the latest projections of state income.

Bumpers opposes the 7 per cent figure, contending such an amount would endanger prospects for a sizeable highway development program. He has proposed an increase to $6.75 million in the county aid money and $7.5 million to the cities.

Rep. B. D. "Doug" Brandon of Little Rock introduced a bill last week that would give the cities $9.5 million and the counties $8.5 million. He said he hoped his proposal would result in a compromise acceptable to all sides and eliminate city-county funding as an obstacle to other legislative business.

The 7 per cent bill, introduced last week by Sen. John F. Bearden Jr. of Leachville, would apportion 4 per cent to cities and 3 per cent to counties.

At a news conference last week, Bumpers termed Brandon's bill "reasonable" but the governor declined to endorse it. He said he did not want to designate a figure that he considered either acceptable or unacceptable.

Bearden's bill was introduced with 18 signers, sufficient for passage in the Senate. Mayor J.W. Benafield of England, one of the chief lobbyists for the 7 per cent, said 56 House members were committed to it. That would be enough for approval in the House.

Representatives of the cities and counties claim that they are not willing to compromise.

The High Commission's announced proposal for a $416 million state road-building bond issue apparently is dead. No such bond plan has been introduced in the session, and even if it were most quarters indicate passage to the people is unlikely. This is an ironic turnaround from two years ago when a $300 million bond proposal sailed through the legislature with only one dissenting vote.

Golda Meir meets with Pope Paul VI

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Golda Meir conferred with Pope Paul VI today amid expectations that the first papal audience accorded an Israeli premier might lead to formal diplomatic relations between the Vatican and the Jewish state.

The unexpected arrival in Rome of a ranking Israeli official in charge of religious affairs indicated too the possibility of the start of talks over the future of holy places in Jerusalem, controlled by Israel since the 1967 Middle East war.

The official, Meir Mendes, the deputy director general of Israel's Ministry of Religious Affairs, declined to discuss with newsmen his plans while in Rome. He described his visit as private.

Vatican sources said the discussions between the Pope and Mrs. Meir centered on the Middle East as well as the status of Jerusalem. The informants also said the Vatican may have decided to play a role in the search for an Arab-Israeli settlement.

Crime study committee makes recommendations

By TOM SEPPY
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A national advisory commission on criminal justice has recommended a maximum prison term of 25 years for all crimes except murder and a maximum of five years for those committed by persons who are termed not a danger to others.

Other major charges recommended Sunday by the National Advisory Commission on Criminal Justice Standards and Goals include full access to legal services and the news media for those in prison, an end to the practice of defense and prosecution agreeing to a guilty plea for a lesser crime, only a single appeal for convicted criminals and decriminalization of "simple drunkenness."

The commission's recommendations are strictly advisory and have no formal support from the Nixon administration, nor do they form the basis for any legislative program.

Natual gas bills may show increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — Natural gas bills, which have already ballooned by a third or more during the past five years, are destined to swell even faster if producers take advantage of a new pricing procedure created by federal regulators.

As a measure of what the future could hold for consumers, three producers in the vital offshore Louisiana field have asked for an immediate 73-percent price increase and want further annual increases which would drive their prices to twice present levels within seven years.

Behind the new pricing procedure is a nationwide gas shortage. For the first time last year, the demand for natural gas exceeded the supply. Producers and the Federal Power Commission contend higher prices are necessary to lure untapped sources of gas onto the market.

The requests for the price increases are the first major

Predicts signing of pact

SAIGON (AP) — Official South Vietnamese sources said today that Gen. Alexander M. Haig Jr. is bringing a revised draft peace agreement to Saigon. And a leading newspaper quoted an unnamed source as saying a cease-fire might occur before Feb. 3, the Tet new year.

The newspaper, Tin Song, often regarded as the official voice of President Nguyen Van Thieu's palace, quoted another source as saying the Saigon government was "neither optimistic nor pessimistic" about peace.

Haig, the U.S. Army vice chief of staff, was flying to Saigon to report to Thieu on the latest round of private Paris peace talks between Henry A. Kissinger and Hanoi's Le Duc Tho. He was due here early Tuesday.

Thieu, meanwhile, met with members of his National Security Council, his closest group of senior aides, to lay groundwork for the meeting with Haig.

At a news briefing, the commission chairman, outgoing Delaware Gov. Russell Peterson, and Jerris Leonard, head of the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration which provided the nearly $2 million for the year-long study, said the commission's report contains controversial material such as possibly putting criminals in residential treatment homes instead of prison.

But they said it was not the purpose to get into many of the most controversial issues of the day. The report sidesteps discussion of capital punishment, gun control, marijuana, wiretapping or the rights of courts as opposed to newsmen's rights to protect their confidential notes and sources.

"It was not our purpose to get into extremely controversial policy issues," Leonard said at a news conference unveiling the report. He described the commission's recommendations as a "reference work."

"We're hoping the professionals can use this study as a blueprint for action," added Peterson. "Many of the standards are a compilation of things already being done. What the commission has done is to bring the variations together."

Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst announced the convening of the first National Conference on Criminal Justice on Jan. 23 to review the major findings of the new study.

One of the scores of recommendations calls for a shift of emphasis from prisons to community-based corrections programs where rehabilitation of offenders can be carried out much more effectively. Another recommendation calls for substantial new rights for inmates.

Consulate 'invaded' by war protesters

AMSTERDAM (AP) — Forty young men and seven women protesting the Vietnam war occupied the U.S. Consulate-General for an hour and a half this morning before riot police led them to police vans.

A police spokesman said they would be charged with breach of the peace and probably would be released after questioning.

They hung banners from consulate windows reading: "Nixon war criminal," "Nixon sign peace now," and "Occupied." About 250 other Dutchmen gathered outside the building protesting President Nixon's Vietnam policies.

A spokesman said the invasion of the consulate was the first of a series of protests against U.S. participation in the war.

No serious injuries were reported in the disturbance in front of Bonn's city hall, police said, but three persons were detained briefly.

Demonstrators returning to Frankfurt from Bonn smashed windows of American, Spanish and Israeli airline offices and several banks in downtown Frankfurt.

The Frankfurt organization of Chancellor Willy Brandt's Social Democratic party called another Vietnam demonstration this afternoon.

The conference of international Socialist leaders in Paris issued an appeal Sunday for peace in Vietnam. Leaders from 18 countries also said they "deplore and regret" last month's bombing of Hanoi and Haiphong.

The Canadian council of the United Auto Workers also condemned Nixon as a "20th-century barbarian" because of the bombing of North Vietnam.

Drug-screening program backed by government

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration wants to look for traces of drugs in the urine of high-school and grade-school students.

The first such drug-screening program, tentatively scheduled to start Feb. 1 in a Harlem school with grades five through eight, won't force any student to submit to testing.

But Nixon's top drug-abuse officials say they will supply federal money for a compulsory program if some locality wants one.

A spokesman for Dr. Jerome H. Jaffe, head of Nixon's Special Action Office on Drug Abuse Prevention, said Jaffe considers civilian drug-screening programs a last resort, but adds "When kids are dying, it may be time for last resorts."

Jaffe has called for public discussion of civilian drug screening like the Army's mandatory urine testing of Vietnam GIs before they return home. The Harlem project, which seeks $70,000 from the Office of Economic Opportunity, is the first to be tried.

It was planned by the locally elected school board in Harlem, and according to board chairman Calvin Alston, no child will be tested unless permission is obtained from the parents and the child himself.

If testing turns up signs of drug use, school officials will inform the parents and tell them where to find treatment. The child's name won't be given to police, health officials or anyone outside the school, Alston said.

If the parents agree to testing but the child refuses, the student will be put in a "peer-group discussion" to explain his refusal to his fellow students, Alston said. If he still refuses "we let him alone," he added.

Alston said the test school, Frederick Douglass Intermediate School, has 1,700 pupils, and that parents of 1,000 already have agreed to testing.

He said he believes the school itself is relatively free of drug addicts. Alston said the program is intended to find and treat pupils who are experimenting with drugs before they can become addicted.

Critics of the screening program say drug users won't volunteer for tests that will reveal their secret, and that compulsory testing would be regarded by the public as an invasion of privacy.

3 policemen die in Ireland

BEILFAST (AP) — Guerrillas killed three police officers in Northern Ireland Sunday night, climaxing two days of the heaviest bombing in the province in months.

At least eight bombs exploded, and British army experts defused two others. One blast wrecked a Belfast tavern frequented by Roman Catholics Saturday night and wounded 25 persons.

The Provisional wing of the Irish Republican Army was blamed for most of the bombings, but Protestant extremists were believed responsible for at least two of them, including the Belfast tavern blast.

One policeman was killed by a mine that exploded under his truck on a lonely country road 35 miles west of Belfast. Another policeman with him was badly wounded. The army said the 100-pound mine was detonated by guerrillas hiding in bushes 200 yards away.

Two hours later, two other police officers were killed and two critically wounded when a 20-pound booby-trap bomb under their car exploded outside police headquarters in Londonderry.

The deaths raised the confirmed fatality toll in the province's 3 1/2 years of communal violence to 687, including 20 police officers.

The Provisional IRA command in Londonderry said the booby-trap bomb outside the police station was a warning to the provincial police "who rigorously uphold the British constitution and who play a large part in the torture of internees."

Snipers peppered army posts in Catholic areas of Belfast but no casualties were reported. Troops arrested three men in the Catholic Ballymurphy quarter when they spotted them burying a rifle and 100 rounds of ammunition in a backyard.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hardage of Okkechobee, Fla., visited friends in Hope Jan. 5.

Ardwins feted with shower

Mrs. Don Ardwin of Hope and Mrs. John Ardwin of Ashdown were honored with a baby shower Thursday, Jan. 11 in the home of Mrs. Cecil Tabler Jr. of Hicks. Flowers and decorations with a baby theme were on display.

Even the refreshments had faces of babies on them. Cookies, mints and punch were served to the guests that included Mrs. Eddie Parks of Hope.

The expectant mothers, whose husbands are identical twins, were presented with many gifts for their babies which are expected to arrive within five weeks of each other.

Peacock Shoes

Men are letting the peacock in them come out in the open. The new bumper toe, higher heel shoes, provide a canvas for a budding artist. Heels are being decorated with painted flowers and designs or pasted with colorful decals.

Year-Round Tan

Wear a bronze shade toner under make-up foundation to keep a year-round tanned look.

Crochet classes rescheduled

All crochet classes sponsored by the county Extension Services will meet in the conference room at the courthouse. Classes begin each Tuesday at 7 p.m. There is no charge for instructions. Mrs. Alphonso T. Denham is instructor.

Dab of Ice

If facial hairs are prominent, avoid powdered or powder-base make-ups which only tend to emphasize them. Instead choose a sheer liquid or cream foundation. After the make-up is applied, lightly dab an ice cube over the face to help it set.

— Be a courteous driver.

Ex-Bunny should hop back into her wifely role

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 BY CHICAGO TRIBUNE—N. Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: My wife is a former Playboy bunny. We've been married about a year. I realize that she met a lot of men while she worked as a cocktail waitress at the club—which is where I met her, but she still gets calls asking if she'll have a drink or dinner with them.

She asked me if I "minded" if she saw some of her old favorites. I really never thought it was right for her to go, but I said I didn't mind because I didn't want her to think I was jealous.

She goes out about once a week. Am I being a chump? If I took my secretary—or anyone else out, my wife would throw a fit.

Even tho I said it was okay at the beginning, I've changed my mind. So how do I tell now that I "mind" without looking like a jealous husband?

CHANGED MY MIND

DEAR CHANGED: What's wrong with looking like a jealous husband if that's what you are—and with good reason. Tell your former Playboy bunny that her cottontail past is behind her now, and it's time she hopped into the role of a full-time wife.

DEAR ABBY: In our community we have a medical group. I suppose you could call it a "clinic." I started going to a physician there who was arrogant and generally unpleasant. I wanted to switch to another doctor but didn't know quite how to do it. My problem was solved, however, when he went on vacation and one of his colleagues treated me instead. The substitute physician was wonderful, so I kept booking him for my treatments. [I get an inoculation once a week.]

Yesterday at the clinic I ran into my first doctor, so I smiled and said, "Good morning."

He replied sharply, "Who's treating you? Whoever he is, he's doing a lousy job. You look like hell!"

Abby, I was so shocked I couldn't even respond. I just walked away.

Was this ethical? I mean, downgrading one of his own colleagues that way? How would you have handled it? Should I report him?

PHILADELPHIA BULLETIN READER

DEAR READER: Probably just as you did. Either that doctor needs a doctor, or he needs some lessons in tact, self-control and manners. Yes, report this incident to the administrator of the clinic.

DEAR ABBY: I am an elderly shut-in and have not attended a wedding in 16 years. I sent one couple a beautiful and expensive pair of pillow cases. I had them wrapped in ribbons and bows and thought it would make a lovely gift.

After going to all this trouble, a friend tells me that this is out-of-date today. Now they put out a large tray and everyone deposits money, starting at about $10. She said at the last wedding she attended, the bridal couple took in over $2,000!

Abby, I was shocked. I had heard of giving money to family, but to every bride and groom, I can't agree. Is this the new style now?

SHOCKED IN N. Y.

DEAR SHOCKED: I imagine it has been done, but wedding gifts are still very much in style. [Cash seems crass.]

CONFIDENTIAL TO "SCOLD ME OR SCARE ME IN PASADENA, AGE 45": You deserve neither scolding nor scaring. You are normal, so quit feeling guilty, Madam.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Miss Gardner, Mr. Bennett exchange vows Wednesday

Wedding vows were exchanged at four o'clock Wednesday afternoon at The First Christian Church at Hope by Miss Virginia O'Neal Gardner and Roger Dean Bennett.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Gardner of Hope. Mr. Bennett is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Harris of Fort Smith.

The Reverend Willard Burks officiated the ceremony which was followed by a reception at the home of the parents of the bride.

Wedding music was presented by Luther Holloman and Mrs. Thomas E. Hays, Jr. soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a gown of candlelight imported re-embroidered Alencon lace applied on ivory pure silk satin. The molded bodice was fashioned with a high victorian neckline and long full bishop sleeves gently gathered to a wide cuff at the wrists. The controlled skirt of gently gathered fullness swept to a chapel length train entirely edged with a wide banding of the imported fine Alencon lace. Her veil, a mantilla of the Alencon lace, mounted over a tiny calot, gently framed her face and fell in soft folds to below her waistline.

Miss Laura Ann Robins was her cousins' honor attendant. She wore a floor length gown of emerald green velvet and a matching emerald green velvet bonnet accented with lace and enhanced by a bow and streamers of satin extending the length of her gown.

Alan Passmore served as best man. Ushers were John B. Gardner, III, brother of the bride, of Little Rock, Jerry O'Neal of Hope, and Frank Robins, III, of Conway, uncles of the bride.

After a short wedding trip, the couple will be at home in Fayetteville, where both are seniors at the University of Arkansas.

Third District Arts and Crafts applies for state grant

The development committee of the Third District Arts and Crafts association met Jan. 12th in the Douglas Building for a luncheon and business meeting.

Mrs. Talbot Field, a member of the Arkansas Arts Council met with the group in finalizing an application to the council for a grant. The Arts Council, a comparatively new organization distributes grants to non-profit groups dedicated to further the arts and crafts in Arkansas.

The local group's project consists of improving facilities for exhibits, bringing in instructors for special arts and crafts classes to benefit children as well as adults, and for judges and other expenses with the art exhibit. Plans were also made to provide facilities for local artists and craftsmen to exhibit and sell their crafts.

Changed Shirts

Classic tailored shirts have made a few changes. Blouse sleeves and wider shoulders add a touch of femininity, but it's the exciting prints and silk and satin material that give new life to an old style.

Don't Over Glitter

Don't overdo jewelry and accessories if you're wearing a glittery metallic outfit. Jewelry shouldn't take away from an outfit, but add to it. So try a small pearl or diamond with your sparkling sweater or dress.

Miami Dolphins: 1972 super champs

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — "Welcome to the Super Bowl Fish Fry," said the bedsheet banner in the massive Memorial Coliseum. However, it was the Washington Redskins who got neatly sauteed by pro football's unbeatable underdogs, the Miami Dolphins.

"Washington's Championship Menu: Filet of Dolphin," said another homemade paean to Coach George Allen's Over-the-Hill Gang. However, it was Miami quarterback Bob Griese who feasted on the tasty gaps in the Redskins' defense.

It was bullish Larry Csonka who gobbled up the Coliseum turf. It was Manny Fernandez who chewed up the Washington ground game. It was Jake Scott who speared the Redskins aerial attack like a hungry interloper amid trays of hors d'oeuvres.

And when the banquet was over on Sunday, the Miami Dolphins, with a victory in Super Bowl VII far more convincing than the final 14-7 score, had become the National Football League's first team to munch their way through an entire season without so much as a tie to blemish their record.

With the American Conference's top offense and equally supreme defense, they had barreled through the year with a 14-0 record. Then, in a pair of come-from-behind efforts, they'd nudged past Cleveland 20-14 and Pittsburgh 21-17 for the AFC title.

And finally, as underdogs of anywhere from one to three points, they marched into Super Bowl VII, silently determined to shove into the background their 24-3 humiliation at the hands of the Dallas Cowboys in the championship game of a year ago.

They didn't just push it into the background. They obliterated it.

"I don't know what I'm gonna tell these guys in training camp," Coach Don Shula said in the jubilant Miami locker room, "except maybe, 'we gotta win the College All-Star Game.'"

"There was always the empty feeling of not having accomplished the ultimate," said Shula, who twice had taken teams into the Super Bowl and twice had come away a loser.

"This is the ultimate."

The Dolphins had come within one busted field goal attempt in the waning minutes of becoming the first shutout victor in the Super Bowl.

And, with their 17-0 record, they moved within one victory of the Chicago Bears' twice-achieved record for the NFL's longest winning streak.

The scoring statistics are simple. A 28-year Griese-to-Howard Twilley touchdown pass with one second to go in the first quarter and a one-yard Jim Kiick plunged with 18 to go in the second. But that hardly tells much of a story.

Washington's scoring is a bit more complicated—and it tells an important story. It was the defense, helped by a frenzy of confusion, that got the points.

Garop Yepremian's 42-yard field goal attempt was blocked by Bill Brundige and, when the Cypriot place-kicker recovered the ball and tried to pass it, he lost the handle.

Cornerback Mike Bass snatched it in mid-air and galloped 49 yards down the left sideline for the touchdown which, with 2:07 to play, averted the ultimate ignominy for Washington.

Suddenly, the record championship crowd of 90,182 fans—and the estimated 75 million television viewers, including those in unblackout Los Angeles—had themselves a close game. They waited for the on-side kick. But it never came.

"There was too much time left," Allen said. "You just try to kick deep, hold them and maybe block the punt." But they didn't hold them until barely a minute remained. They didn't block the punt, a 40-yarder by Larry Seiple that dumped the Redskins back on their own 30-yard line.

Then, after three incomplete passes by Billy Kilmer and a final crushing quarterback sack that left him staring helplessly at the smog-laden California sky, the Dolphins, for their 60 minutes of work, were each $15,000 richer—closer to $25,000 if you include the AFC playoff shares.

The National Conference champion Redskins each receive about $17,500 including the $7,500 Super Bowl loser's

Griese, who played it protectively cozy in the second half, finishing the game with eight completions on 11 passes for 88 yards, was dynamite in the first half of his first start since the fifth game of the season, when leg and ankle injuries brought Earl Morrall in as the signal-caller.

In the first two periods he went 6-for-6 for 75 yards. And he would have been 8-for-8 for 142 yards had not a 20-yarder to Marv Fleming and a 47-yard scoring bomb to Paul Warfield been wiped out by penalties.

There was still plenty of time as the second half began and Kilmer, who finished with completions on half of his 28 passes for 104 yards, didn't seem about to waste it.

Four successive completions—11 yards to Jerry Smith, 15 to Charley Taylor, then 15 and seven to Roy Jefferson, and the 'Skins were on the Miami 17.

But as suddenly as Kilmer had found his arm, he lost it—and he lost eight yards when Fernandez blew in to dump him. So it was up to Curt Knight to put Washington on the scoreboard.

He didn't. The place-kicker who had booted seven straight field goals in the NFC Playoffs against Green Bay and Dallas missed from 32 yards out.

"I simply did not throw that well today," said Kilmer, looking forward glumly to his role next Sunday in Dallas as quarterback of the NFC All-Star team in the Pro Bowl. "I think if I had thrown well we would have beaten them ... that game next week doesn't mean a thing any more. Not without this one."

"We figured we had to run against Miami but their overall defense is so good that we couldn't get anything started." Larry Brown, who had led NFC rushers with 1,216 yards, managed 72 of Washington's 141 ground yards against the Dolphins, and he needed 22 carries to do it.

Csonka, meanwhile, brushed aside Redskins tacklers all day, piling up 112 yards.

Gurdon downs Hope

By RICKY FAWCETT
Star Sports Writer

The Yerger Junior High seventh graders upped their season record to three wins, one loss with a 32-30 victory over Gurdon last Saturday morning. However the Yerger Eighth Graders lost their game, 30-24.

Led by the shooting of Gary Sinyard, the seventh graders overcame a 15-10 halftime deficit to win.

The next game was just the opposite.

Yerger quickly jumped to a 5-0 lead, but was able to score only two more points in the first half. Gurdon led 10-9 at this point.

Gurdon stretched that lead to six early in the third period. From here the teams swapped baskets with 30-24 the final score.

Gurdon's Ray Guiley took scoring honors with 12 points. Bruce Huddleston topped Yerger with 10.

Tuesday night the Hope Ladycats will go to Little Rock to participate in the Joe T. Robinson Girls Tournament.

Hogs down Aggies in conference opener

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas' Martin Terry poured in 35 points to lead the Razorbacks to a 84-73 victory over Texas A&M here Saturday in the Southwest Conference opener for both teams.

The leading scorer in the SWC, Terry's 35 points gave him 1,005 points in less than two seasons with the Hogs. A 6-foot-4-guard, Terry transferred to Arkansas last year from Hutchinson, Kan., Junior College.

The Razorback attack was also spurred by Dean Tolson's 22-point contribution. The Aggies were led by Randy Knowles with 14 points. Jeff Overhouse added 13 for A&M.

Terry scored 16 points in the first half to put the Razorbacks on top 38-36 at the half. The Hogs jumped to a 42-36 lead in the opening minutes of the second half and the Aggies never caught up.

A&M narrowed the gap to 43-40 on a tip-in by Cedric Joseph, but a field goal by Dennis White, a free throw by Terry and a basket by Dee Tolson made it 48-40.

A&M rallied to within 53-48, but Arkansas responded with a fast break basket by Terry and three points by White.

The Aggies owned the SWC's best nonconference record, 7-4, while Arkansas was 7-5 against outside competition.

North Carolina takes last minute victory

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Norm Sloan has dealt a blow to strategy and at the same time, given Maryland's Atlantic Coast Conference title hopes a kick in the pants.

Professing "no game plan," North Carolina State's coach went into Sunday's blockbuster meeting with Maryland hopeful but unarmed with strategic plays.

It turned out better that way, as David Thompson tipped in a field goal with three seconds left to give third-ranked North Carolina State a tense 87-85 victory over the No. 2 Terrapins.

"We didn't have a last-shot play," confessed Sloan. "We didn't have an out-of-bounds play. We didn't even have a game plan. We just had general organization and tried to make something happen."

What happened to Maryland might not have happened if Coach Lefty Driesell had not used his game plan.

The Maryland coach, his team holding an 85-81 lead with roughly five minutes left, decided to freeze the ball.

"The theory was good," Driesell said later. "The idea was to make them foul. They did and we had our best shooter at the line but it didn't work."

Tom McMillen, an 85 per cent free-throw shooter this year, missed two vital one-on-one situations and the Wolfpack jumped on the mistakes.

Tim Stoddard tossed in a field goal and Thompson sank two free throws to tie the score at 85-all. Then Tom Burleson fired the ball toward the basket rim and Thompson picked it off in mid-flight and put it through.

North Carolina State, 11-0, thus remained one of two major college unbeaten in the land, knocking Maryland, 10-1, out of the dwindling class.

The top-ranked UCLA Bruins show a 12-0 record after whipping California 69-50 Saturday for their 57th straight.

In other big games over the weekend, Notre Dame upset No. 4 Marquette 71-69; No. 17 Kansas State shocked No. 5 Missouri 70-55; No. 8 Minnesota walloped Wisconsin 78-54; No. 14 Alabama tripped ninth-ranked Vanderbilt 83-77; 11th-rated Providence trimmed Duquesne 86-79; San Francisco, No. 12, blasted Pepperdine 104-84; No. 13 Southwestern Louisiana toppled Texas-Arlington 79-73; No. 16 Indiana crushed Ohio State 81-67; No. 18 Florida State defeated Cincinnati 78-74; St. John's, N.Y., tied for No. 18, smothered St. Francis, N.Y., 93-72 and No. 20 Louisville clipped Wichita State 78-75 in double overtime.

Center Bill Walton led UCLA over California with a hot streak at the start of the second half. The Bruins, trailing at halftime for the first time this year, went on a 20-4 ripoff to start the second half as Walton scored nine points.

Dwight Clay's jump shot with four seconds left gave Notre Dame its victory over Marquette that snapped the Warriors' 81-game winning streak at home.

Missouri was beaten by Kansas State's zone defense. The Wildcats bottled up Missouri's rugged front line while running away to a 16-point lead at the start of the second half.

Minnesota, held to a 31 tie at intermission, ran up 47 points in the second half behind Jim Brewer to bomb Wisconsin.

Wendall Hudson's tip-in with 4:34 left put Alabama ahead of Vanderbilt to stay.

Super Bowl overflows with heros

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — When the experts got around to picking a hero of Miami's 14-7 Super Bowl victory, they found themselves in a mob scene of Dolphins.

Defensive line stalwart Manny Fernandez figured in 10 tackles, most for either team.

Jake Scott intercepted two passes, equalling a Super Bowl record.

Bob Griese, starting his first game since a broken ankle early in the season, marshaled the offense and directed forces to two touchdowns—setting up one with a pass and passing for the other.

Larry Csonka came within nine yards of the Super Bowl rushing record with 112 in 15 carries.

"I think we proved we have the best defense in football, the best offense in football and the best football team," declared the agile 250-pound Fernandez, the keystone man in the Dolphins' front wall.

"It was the best day of my 26 years. I've been looking for this since I was a kid."

And Fernandez, who made the Dolphin roster as a free agent, still likes the "No Name Defense" tag hung on the Miami defenders earlier this season.

"It's just a nickname and they should know now that we're a team."

Defensive captain Nick Buoniconti, whose pass interception set up the second Dolphin touchdown, commented, "I think our line had the best game ever played by four guys up front in Dolphin uniform."

So add to your heroes list—defensive ends Bill Stanfill and Vern Den Herder and defensive tackle Bob Heinz. And don't forget Bob Matheson who comes in as a linebacker on the three-man front defense the Dolphins know as 53. That's Matheson's number.

Scott intercepted one Bill Kilmer pass on the first series of the second quarter and another three yards deep in the end zone in the fourth stanza. He brought that one back to the Redskins 48 before Charley Harraway caught him from behind.

The Dolphin safetyman was named winner of an automobile given by a national sports magazine to the man it considers the most valuable in the Super Bowl.

Quarterback Griese, the 27-year-old who hadn't started for 10 games after a broken ankle, hit six passes in as many attempts in the first half. One went 28 yards for a touchdown to Howard Twilley. Another gained 19 yards on a throw to Jim Mandich at the two. Jim Kiick scored that touchdown.

Csonka's rushing total of 112 yards compares with the record of 121 by Matt Snell of the New York Jets in 1969 but Snell had twice as many carries in that 6-7 victory over Baltimore.

Track meet has overtones of 1972 Olympics

By BERT ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Sports Writer

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (AP) — The scene had overtones of the 1972 Olympic Games at Munich when U.S. track medal winners Vince Matthews and Wayne Collett did not stand at attention during the playing of the National Anthem at the medals ceremony.

This time, it was not international competition, but the Knights of Columbus Indoor Meet at the Nassau Coliseum.

The athletes were not Olympians, but from Eastern Michigan, and the incident did not occur at an awards ceremony, but during the playing of the Anthem, prior to the mile race—one of the late events on Saturday night's program.

The Eastern Michigan mile relay team, scheduled to run in the final event, was gathered in the infield of the track as The Star Spangled Banner was being sung. Instead of standing, some members of the group which included three blacks—Carlos Woods, Willie Sims and Stan Vinson—and one white—Mark Timmons—remained slouched on the floor, disdaining the flag.

"I don't know what they were doing, but they weren't protesting," insisted Eastern Michigan Coach Bob Parks.

The crowd of 8,551 did not agree with Parks' interpretation, nor with the athletes' stand—or lack of it—and booed them lustily.

Even some athletes who had competed earlier and had taken seats in the stands, disagreed with the apparent protest by the Eastern Michigan runners.

"Get those Commies out of here," shouted a group of athletes.

The Games Committee did take kindly to the action by the Eastern Michigan athletes, and disqualified them from the relay. One meet official said that the timers and judges had agreed to walk off the track if the Eastern Michigan team was permitted to compete.

"They should not have been thrown out," said Parks. "They're really good kids. They won't do it in the future."

The Eastern Michigan runners were recipients of further booing when Woods, Sims and Vinson jogged around the track and the infield with clenched fists and Timmons trotted in the infield prior to the running of the relay.

"They were disqualified because of their disrespectful conduct toward the American flag and their personal rebuke to the people at the Coliseum as expressed by their actions," said Jim Foley, meet director.

Awards Day slated

All teams in leagues which participate in programs sponsored by the Parks and Recreation Department will be honored at Awards Day.

season.

A trophy will also be presented to the team in each league which best exemplifies qualities of good sportsmanship.

Along with the thirty-six team trophies, first, second, third, and fourth place ribbons will be given to players of the appropriate teams and individual awards will be presented to deserving adults who made the programs run smoothly.

A brief look back over the past year and plans for the future of the Hope Park and Recreation Department will be discussed.

In addition to the teams, their players, and coaches who will be honored at Awards Day, all officials, spectators, parents of players, and other interested persons are invited to attend, with a special invitation being extended to all team sponsors and city officials who provide the financial backing.

No admission will be charged, and cokes, coffee, and cookies will be served throughout the festivities.

Jerry West never acts his age

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

One thing about Jerry West: He never acts his age. Another thing: The Los Angeles Lakers are mighty glad of it.

"I don't see West slowing down one bit," says Herm Gilliam of the Atlanta Hawks. "There's no sign at all that he is."

Gilliam got to see the Lakers' "old man" first-hand Sunday, and the 34-year-old West looked as good as ever in leading a 102-100 National Basketball Association victory over the Hawks.

West took the momentum away from Atlanta in the waning minutes when he stole the ball from Pete Maravich. West later got a basket on a goal-tending call to break it open.

"I try to contribute what I can," said West. "Maravich has a tendency to put the ball out front. I just happened to reach for it at the right time."

In the other NBA games, the Milwaukee Bucks beat the Chicago Bulls 100-95; the Baltimore Bullets dropped the Phoenix Suns 95-94 and the New York Knicks tripped the Seattle SuperSonics 86-84.

In the American Basketball Association, the Carolina Cougars turned back the Memphis Tams 104-100 and the Kentucky

Colonels nipped the San Diego Conquistadors 100-97.

Saturday's results in the NBA included: Boston 111, Philadelphia 95; Cleveland 123, Houston 115 and Phoenix 116, Golden State 110.

ABA: Indiana 108, San Diego 107 and Utah 105, Kentucky 96.

Before West took over, Atlanta held a 95-94 lead and had possession of the ball. By the time West was finished, it was 90-94 Los Angeles.

"When West does finally leave, the Lakers just won't be the same team," added Gilliam.

Kareem Abdul-Jabbar scored 35 points and Bob Dandridge added 21 as Milwaukee defeated Chicago. The Bucks held off a second-half rally led by Jerry Sloan. The Chicago star scored 16 of his 20 points in that stanza.

Mike Riordan made four timely field goals in the fourth quarter to help Baltimore's cause. A last-second field goal by Phoenix tipped out of the basket.

Billy Cunningham and Mack Calvin took control in the final minute and gave Carolina a comeback victory over Memphis. Louis Dampier hit a shot with 24 seconds remaining to lead Kentucky over San Diego.

Ray III keeps boxing tradition
Roadwork runs in Lunny family

By MURRAY OLDERMAN
SAN FRANCISCO—(NEA) —The kid's name is Ray Lunny III and he comes from a boxing tradition.

Grandfather Lunny owned a couple of bars in the Mission district of San Francisco, a teeming ethnic beehive in which the Irish were once big but where Chicanos now prevail. The Lunnys came out of County Fermanagh in northern Ireland four generations ago. Grandfather Lunny was an aggressive bantamweight fighter. So was his son, Raymond Edward Lunny Jr.

Ray Lunny was good enough to be in with a couple of guys who held the featherweight title, Chalky Wright and Richie Lemos, in the early 1940s. Later he was the boxing coach at Stanford University for 25 years, until last summer.

Now he's the manager of his son, Ray Lunny III, an undefeated lightweight who fought his first main event Dec. 11 in San Francisco's Civic Auditorium and has already been offered a main event by that mecca of boxing, Madison Square Garden.

Young Ray (22) has had only 10 professional bouts, but a short-haired Anglo-Saxon fighter is a rare attraction. Even more so if he's been to college, as Ray III has, and can still flit around the ring with the finesse of an old pro.

"If anything," says his father, "I encouraged young Ray to go into boxing. His mother was a little reluctant for him to become a professional. Personally, I wanted him to wait for the Olympics but when Ray decided to become a pro two years ago, right after he won the National AAU championship, we were right behind him."

Raised in the upper middle class bin of suburban Redwood City, young Ray would not normally have gravitated to boxing, except for the family connection. By the time he was 15, he had already sparred with 40 main-event pros, including Lionel Rose, the Australian aborigine who was the world's bantamweight champ.

"When he first started out in amateur boxing," admitted the senior Lunny, "I was awake 2 or 3 o'clock every morning before a fight, drinking coffee. It was miserable. But he gained experience and started to win championships and now I have such confidence in him."

It isn't even shaken by the stigma that boxing is supposed to carry as a shoddy sport infested by hoodlums.

"All the years I spent in the boxing game," shrugs Ray Lunny, the manager, "I never met a gangster. I never ask a guy his business. I asked a gambler once after I was through with boxing. 'Hey, how come you never tried to get me to do something?'

"The guy said, 'Well, you woulda punched me in the nose.'"

"There's so much acceptance of everything today that, heck, boxing is pretty nice by comparison."

So far it hasn't been especially lucrative for the Lunnys, maybe $900 a bout. Young Ray got married. He quit school and became an apprentice plumber to bring in paydays between bouts. He does roadwork when he comes home at night. He has to go to a gym in San Jose weekends to find sparring partners.

To the father, boxing is also part-time. He is the sales manager for a drayage company. As Ray III gets closer to the big money and has to go on the road, they'll face the decision of full-time concentration on boxing.

His first pro bout was in Los Angeles and he was the only Anglo-Saxon on a card dominated by Latins. He was knocked down in the first round, broke his hand in the second and still escaped with a draw. He won his next nine bouts handily and became the star attraction at the Circle Star Theater in San Carlos, just down Highway 101 from the city. It's a place where Sammy Davis Jr., and Engelbert Humperdinck are usually spotlighted in the round arena. Ray Lunny III provides a change of pace.

"Throw the 16-inch wrench at him, Ray," bellows a partisan from the plumbers' union.

And Ray does. He's a slick boxing kid who's up on his toes, moving in and out, flicking jabs, crossing rights and wearing down his opponents. He's got an Irish temper, too. When his most recent victim, Gil Noriega (who went into the ring with a 36-2 record), kicked him in the groin as Gil was going down, young Ray bopped the Mexican on the top of his head as he sat in a corner. Two rounds later he knocked him through the ropes and finished him off.

Some local critics doubt Ray's punching power. But not the old man. The father was noted during his own boxing days for a wicked left.

"He still has it," says young Ray. "We used to work out and spar all the time until a year ago."

"Then," says the father, "he pulled the trigger on me once. That was enough. I wasn't going to get punchy from my own kid after all those years."

Coach Dwight Williams reaches new plateau

By HARRY KING
ASSOCIATED PRESS WRITER
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Winning will never become old hat to Blytheville Coach Dwight Williams.

Last week, Williams topped the 200-victory mark at Blytheville. He had reached the same plateau at Greene County Tech before taking over at Blytheville 10 years ago.

"I enjoy winning as much as ever," Williams said. "Years ago, I had opportunities to go into other things and make more money, but I still enjoy coaching. As long as a fellow enjoys his work, that's the key thing."

This is Williams' 25th year in coaching.

"When a fellow is in it that long, he's got to like it hasn't he?" Williams said.

This week, Williams' Chicks are sixth in The Associated Press high school basketball poll. Blytheville, which has won 10 straight, was ranked 10th last week.

Fort Smith Northside ran its record to 12-0 with victories over Fort Smith Southside and Little Rock Parkview and was a unanimous choice for the top spot in the poll. Pine Bluff is second followed by Little Rock Central, Little Rock Ole Main, Blytheville, Morrilton, Harrison, Jonesboro and Osceola. Ole Main was second last week but fell after losing 64-56 to Pine Bluff. Parkview was third and Pine Bluff fourth last week. Central moved up from fifth after beating Little Rock Hall and North Little Rock Northeast.

Morrilton jumped into the top 10 after beating Harrison and Valley Springs enroute to the championship of the Arkansas Tech Invitational. Harrison and Valley Springs had one loss each before playing Morrilton. Harrison remained eighth after winning three games in the Tech tournament and then losing by four points to Morrilton. Jonesboro, ninth a week ago, beat Little Rock McClellan and then lost to Jonesboro Westside Saturday night.

Osceola moved into the top 10 after upping its record to 17-1. Conway, ranked sixth last week, lost to Valley Springs and dropped out of the top 10 and Northeast, ranked seventh last week, also fell from the rankings.

Blytheville began its winning streak when Williams inserted Rufus Barnes into the lineup.

"We felt we needed to get more rebounding," Williams said. "We were trying to play a three guard front and were getting hurt by lack of rebounds."

Esposito 'does his thing'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Phil Esposito is not particular about how many players there are on the ice when he goes to work. Just give him a stick, a National Hockey League puck and a goalie and he does his thing.

Esposito exploded for four goals Sunday night—two of them with Boston shorthanded, another on a power play, and the other with both teams at equal strength—as the Bruins battered the Buffalo Sabres 6-0.

In other NHL action Sunday, New York downed Philadelphia 5-2, Montreal shut out Vancouver 3-0, St. Louis nipped the New York Islanders 2-1, Detroit shaded Pittsburgh 3-2, Atlanta tripped Los Angeles 4-1 and California and Chicago battled to a 6-6 tie.

In Saturday's NHL games, the Rangers defeated St. Louis 5-3, Boston took Toronto 4-1, Minnesota walloped the Islanders 8-1, Philadelphia nipped Chicago 3-2 and Pittsburgh, with Ken Schinkel making his coaching debut, topped Los Angeles 3-1.

In the World Hockey Association Sunday, Minnesota defeated Ottawa 3-2 and Winnipeg downed Cleveland 3-1.

Esposito, who leads active NHL players with 18 career three-goal games, started his big night with a power play goal. His second came while he was out killing a Boston penalty, his third came with both sides even and the fourth in another shorthanded situation. It was the second four-goal game of his career. The defending scoring champion also assisted on a goal by Johnny Buckyk.

Goalie Eddie Johnston had an easy night, blocking just 20 shots for his fourth shutout of the season.

Rookie goalie Wayne Thomas, making his first NHL start, backstopped Montreal to its shutout against Vancouver. The Mahovich Brothers, Frank and Pete, and Jacques Lemaire provided the goals for the Canadiens, leaders in the NHL East.

Thomas, filling in for Ken Dryden, sidelined with a bad back and Michel Plasse, battling the flu, blocked 20 shots for the shutout.

Crampton wins Phoenix Open

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer
PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — "There is no substitute for victory," Australian veteran Bruce Crampton said after his dramatic triumph in the Phoenix Open Golf Tournament.

"I really don't feel I deserve to win," he said, almost apologetically, after sinking a 20-foot birdie putt on the 72nd hole to break a multi-man tie for the top spot in the second tournament of the year on the pro tour.

"I made a lot of mistakes," he continued, "I feel there are a whole lot of times I've played better and didn't win. Several times last year, in fact."

Crampton, 37 and now in his 17th season on the pro tour, failed to win last year but still collected over $100,000—much of it off second place finishes in both the U.S. Open and Masters.

"You can't advertise second place," the stocky man with the curly hair said after his 11th tour triumph. "You could finish second every week out there and make a lot of money

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB
Confusion in Terms

The Nutritional Value of Cereals

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—I read your daily column in the Alameda California Times Star and find it very interesting and informative. I would like to request the latest information on the nutritional value of packaged dry cereals.

Dear Reader—Much of the confusion about the nutritional value of dry cereals is based on failure to define terms. There are several different ways that foods can be measured. They can be measured by weight as in ounces or grams, or they can be measured by volume as by the cupful, or they can be measured in terms of calories. The question of nutritional value of dry cereals is directly related to the differences in measurement by weight as opposed to volume.

On the basis of weight there are no important nutritional differences between dry cereals and the basic nutritional product. For example, three and one-half ounces (100 grams) of whole grain wheat contain from 10 to 14 grams of protein. The same weight of puffed wheat contains 15 grams of protein. However, by volume it takes a much smaller weight of wheat to fill a cup or bowl than it does whole wheat grain. Literally, the whole wheat grain has been diluted by puffing it, exactly the same as popcorn's volume is increased by popping it. This isn't particularly unusual in foods. The food elements in meat are diluted by 70 per cent water because that's the way nature produces meat. About 80 per cent of the weight of fish is from water. Milk also is a diluted food. If you took the water out of a quart of milk, there wouldn't be much volume left. Whether a food is diluted with water or air the effect is the same.

If you want to be sure you're getting adequate amounts of nutrition from dried cereals, you want to consider the weight of what you're eating and not the volume. A big sack of puffed wheat may not weight very much, any more than a large sack of popped popcorn would. Of course, the nutrients in cooked cereals, such as oatmeal prepared at home, are also diluted by water by the time they are cooked, which tends to decrease their nutritional value per cupful just as air dilutes puffed wheat by the cupful. It takes only a small amount of dry oatmeal or rice to make a cup of cereal cooked with water.

As far as the other nutrients are concerned, these change from time to time. The amounts of various mixtures of vitamins that are added to enriched breakfast foods change according to the recommendations of the Food and Drug Administration. Usually, though, the vitamin replacement is such to make these products approximately comparable to the natural whole grain product, but they can be lacking in some elements of roughage (particularly flour) and possibly some other elements, such as the naturally abundant presence of Vitamin E.

In general, prepared breakfast foods or those you make at home or the whole grain product are all good nutritious foods. They are a valuable source of cereal protein, and these proteins include different amino acids than are found in some other foods. Therefore, a good balanced diet should contain an adequate amount of cereals as part of the daily fare.

Legislative Report

By State Rep. Larry Patterson

This will be the first of a series of weekly reports of activities of the Arkansas House of Representatives which State Rep. Larry Patterson will present to the citizens of Hempstead County.

The week of Jan. 8-12 was devoted chiefly to organizational activity. Chief Justice Carlton Harris administered the oaths of office to the governor, all legislators, and all Constitutional officers. The House elected Grover W. Turner from Pine Bluff as Speaker of the House. Mrs. Jim Childers was re-elected as Chief Clerk of the House. The speaker appointed Rep. Cecil Alexander of Heber Springs as Speaker Pro-tempore of the House.

Later, during the week, it was announced that Alexander had secured enough pledges to be the Speaker for the 70th General Assembly beginning in 1975. The Speaker appointed the special and regular committees of the House. I was appointed to both committees of my choice—the Judiciary Committee and the Legislative Affairs Committee.

The Judiciary Committee covers matters pertaining to state and local courts, court clerks, court stenographers and other court employees, civil and criminal procedures, probate matters, and all civil and criminal laws. The Legislative Affairs Committee handles legislation affecting the legislative department of government, bills and resolutions affecting the joint rules of the House and Senate, memorials and general resolutions, serves as supervisory committee over the preparation of the official journal of the House and supervises the engrossing and enrolling of all bills.

The Legislative Affairs Committee also handles any other bills whose subject matter does not fall within the subject matter jurisdiction of another committee.

During the first week, over 150 bills, memorials, and resolutions were filed with the House, read the first and second time, and referred to the proper committees for report. Included in the first week's bills were bills comprising about half of the governor's legislative program.

I joined with Rep. Sparks of Fordyce in sponsoring legislation dealing with notification of a sheriff and state medical examiner in event of certain violent deaths in a county. I joined with Rep. Honey of Prescott in sponsoring legislation affecting the salaries of court reporters in the Sixth Chancery Circuit. I am a co-sponsor, with Rep. Moore of Luxora of a bill to exempt certain fertilizers, seed, feed and certain agricultural chemicals from the state sales tax. I am a co-sponsor, with Rep. Kincaid of Fayetteville, of a bond and bail reform act for Arkansas. I co-sponsored, with Rep. Osterlind of North Little Rock, of a bill clarifying the right of a husband and wife to offer testimony for each other in civil and criminal suits in the State of Arkansas.

The House passed the Senate and House Appropriation bills as well as other enabling technical legislation in several areas. Among the matters to be presented to the General Assembly for a vote during the week beginning January 15th will be the Equal Rights Amendment ratification which will probably be the subject of much debate because of the side effects if the bill is passed.

I would prefer that the House defer action on this ratification until we can get a complete listing and understanding of exactly what protective laws in use now in Arkansas would be repealed or changed by adoption of this Amendment by the required number of States.

We expect much debate also on the proposals to change the Governor's Reorganization plan passed during the 1971 session to consolidate State Agencies since we expect to vote on several special bills to take several agencies out of their present Departments and make them separate agencies again.

Mail to me should be addressed to: Rep. Larry S. Patterson, Arkansas House of Representatives, State Capitol Building, Little Rock, Ark. 72201. The phone number of the House is 375-9981. For those of you who will be visiting in Little Rock during the session when the House is not in session, I will be staying in Room 222, Magnolia Inn, 3601 West Roosevelt Rd. The phone number at the Magnolia Inn is 666-5481, extension 222. To be sure to reach me, please direct the mail and phone calls to the House address and phone number if possible. I should be in my office at Hope each Friday afternoon and all day Saturday during the session if some of you wish to speak to me in person about legislative matters.

Congressional seat sought by an Indian

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — Democrats have selected an Indian, Emil Notti, to run for the congressional seat that was held by Nick Begich, presumed dead in a plane crash.

Notti, 38, will face Republican Don Young in a special election March 6. Young, chosen earlier by the state Republican Central Committee to be the GOP candidate, lost to Begich in last November's election.

A light plane carrying Begich, former House Democratic Leader Hale Boggs and two other men has been missing since it went down last Oct. 16.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

In 1845, Congress set the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November as presidential election day. The World Almanac says. This date was determined partially because harvesting was done and traveling conditions were good. Tuesday was chosen because it was unpopular to vote on Sunday and long journeys to the polls often required Sunday travel.

SOMEWHAT DEFLATED, Albert Poon extricates himself after flipping into a pile of tires during the sixth International Karting Prix at Hong Kong. No injury except to his dignity. Defending champion Gary Emmick of the United States won.

Helen Help Us!

—by Helen Bottel—

A Lift for Dad's Morale

DEAR RAP: While my Dad is still recovering from the Christmas bills, I think it's a good time to tell everyone how I feel about him.

WHAT IS A FATHER?

A father is someone who tells you when he brags about you to others, but cuts it in half so you don't get conceited.

He teases you when he's trying gently to tell you something important that means a lot to both of you.

He hesitates a little when lending you money even though you know he will.

Though he doesn't need it, he reminds you of the loan so you won't think he forgot—and you'll learn about paying debts. He asks about those of your friends whom he likes, but never puts down the ones he doesn't.

He loves you to stay home sometimes and watch TV with him.

He rubs your back when you ask, and teases you about getting old.

He wears those freaky things you buy him even though they're not his type.

He grows a moustache for you while on vacation, but shaves it off later because the men at work are "straight."

He sends you flowers on your birthday when he knows no one else will—and leaves the card blank.

He's the greatest guy in the whole world, and you know you don't show your affection enough, so maybe this will tell him. —CHEL

DEAR CHEL: It will, it will! —RAP

RAP: I'm going around with this 19-year-old chick I love a lot, but the problem is she's a Jesus freak and I'm just the opposite.

My friends get stoned and they say some off-the-wall junk about it and to her. Then HER friends preach to me because I do grass and things.

My people are getting rougher and rougher on us and her people are getting pushier and pushier. Which way do I go? —MIXED UP

M.U.: That depends on whether you want to keep on doing grass and things or (as your girl might put it) find some purpose in life. If she means more to you than your spaced-out friends, then maybe you'll see that her way isn't any more "freaky" than theirs.

This is for sure: you can't mix two opposites, so someone's got to give. Choose for yourself what you truly want, and don't let anyone make the decision for you—including me! —SUE MIXED UP:

Perhaps you could both give a little. If YOU quit drugs and cool your present crowd, then your girl should quiet down her "preachers."

I gather she herself isn't pushy about her religion, nor are you insistent that she choose your way of life. So it appears your friends are the problem. Let both sets know you'd appreciate their butting out. —HELEN

DEAR RAP: I have a friend who is always telling me what other people say about me. And they're really such terrible things that I feel like running away. I guess I make an awful impression. How can I change? —L.D.

L.: Change friends! —SUE

DEAR L.D.: ...And know your enemies—of whom this friend is one! —HELEN

'Sculptor of Presidents' Is Dead

Ralph J. Menconi, world-renowned medalist and sculptor, is dead at the age of 57. Because of his close personal and professional association with the last five presidents, Menconi was known throughout the numismatic world as "the sculptor of presidents." And rightfully so, for in addition to having sculptured the five, Ralph Menconi created the high-relief profiles of all 36 presidents as they appear in Presidential Series of medals struck by Medalic Art Co. of New York and distributed through Presidential Art Medals, Inc., of Vandalia, Ohio.

In 1969, Mr. Menconi was personally selected by President Nixon to create the Official Inaugural Medal, and he designed the more recent reverse of the Bicentennial Medal for the American Revolution Bicentennial Committee, of which he was a contributing member.

Being an avid student of history, Ralph Menconi always found personal satisfaction in originating works of art pertaining to the American heritage. Among his most famous works were the Presidential series, States of the Union, Signers of the Declaration of Independence, Apollo Moon Landing and the Great Religions of the World.

One of his last works produced just before his untimely death was the model for the upcoming Apollo 17 flight. The last in the Apollo-Moon-on-the-Moon series.

The many hundreds of Menconi works include the United States Capitol

Watergate trial enters second week

By DON McLEOD
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Watergate political espionage trial entered its second week today with some of the remaining defendants reportedly under heavy pressure to drop out.

With one guilty plea already in and four more considered a definite possibility, a dwindling number of defendants would dim the prospect of the full story ever being told about the break-in at Democratic party headquarters last summer. One of the original seven defendants, E. Howard Hunt, pleaded guilty Wednesday.

The big question centered on the intentions of four defendants from the Miami area who appeared to be leaning toward a guilty plea to take them out of a trial which could last two months.

Sources close to the case said Bernard L. Barker, Frank A.

Sturgis, Eugenio R. Martinez and Virgilio R. Gonzalez were being pressured to plead guilty and prevent the full evidence against them from being aired.

The Washington Post today quoted sources close to the defendants as saying Hunt has led the four to believe that if they plead guilty their families "will be taken care of" and they can expect relatively early release from prison. Hunt's attorney, William O. Bittman, said this report was "absurd," the Post said.

The attorney for the four, Henry B. Rothblatt, said he was opposed to guilty pleas and would quit the case before allowing it to happen.

He said they have nothing to gain by pleading guilty.

The New York Times said over the weekend that the four Miami men were still being paid by unnamed persons. The paper quoted Sturgis as saying he suspects that part of the money comes from the Committee for the Re-election of the President.

Newsday, a Long Island, New York newspaper, quoted sources close to the defense as saying unidentified persons in Miami were urging the four to plead guilty and had promised to pay them $1,000 for every month they spent in prison. Time magazine carried a similar report.

All seven defendants were said by the prosecution to be in the employ of President Nixon's campaign committee when five of them were arrested inside the Democratic National Committee offices in Washington's Watergate complex in the early morning hours of June 17.

They are charged variously in a lengthy indictment with offenses ranging from burglary to wiretapping.

TO VISIT HERE—Jehovah's Witnesses of Hope, Arkansas are planning a special week of activity, Jan. 16-21, when Circuit Supervisor David H. Smith and his wife, Catherine, visits the local congregation. Smith, a native of Philadelphia, Penn., has been a minister for 35 years. He has served as circuit supervisor in Washington, Oregon, Florida, Louisiana, Texas, Arkansas, and the Philippine Islands for five years. According to Duane Swanson, presiding minister in Hope, the purpose of the week-long visit is to give practical assistance to each individual witness in his personal ministry. Highlight of the week will be the public lecture, "Who Is Your God?", to be given at 10 a.m. Sunday at the local Kingdom Hall, 19th and Main St. All interested persons have been invited.

People in the News

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — President Nixon says the Super Bowl was great, even though his favorite team lost.

"That was a fine game," Nixon was quoted as saying Sunday after Miami won the world professional football championship with a 14-7 victory over the Washington Redskins.

"The people of Washington and the people of Miami can both be proud of their teams," Nixon said. "They played well."

The chief executive watched the game on television with his close friend and neighbor, C. G. "Bebe" Rebozo, a Key Biscayne banker.

Aides said Nixon was expected to telephone the coaches of both teams today.

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip reportedly will visit the parents of Mark Phillips, the cavalry officer romantically linked with Princess Anne.

The Sun newspaper reported today that the royal couple probably will call at the Phillips' 16th century country home at Great Somerford in southwest England when they visit the Royal Air Force base at nearby Lyneham on June 15.

The Sun also reported rumors that the Queen had asked her 22-year-old daughter to wait a few months before announcing her engagement to the 24-year-old Phillips.

It is traditional for members of the royal family to go through periods of separation to test the strength of their feelings. Phillips last week left for a two-year tour of duty in West Germany with his regiment, the Queen's Dragoon guards.

HONOLULU (AP) — Elvis Presley, moving from strenuous rock 'n' roll hits to tender ballads and back again, was beamed into millions of homes during a concert telecast via satellite to 36 countries around the world.

From "Hound Dog" and "Blue Suede Shoes" to "All My Troubles, Lord," the 38-year-old singing star staged an hour-long show Sunday. There were squeals of delight from the perennial cluster of teen-aged girls, most not even born when he launched his career.

By Oswald & James Jacoby
Oswald: "Prior to 1950 to-day's hand would be played by North at four spades. East would open the queen of hearts. The defense would take three hearts and the ace of trumps and North-South would complain about the unfortunate heart situation. Then Dave Carter of St. Louis invented the Texas transfer. In this convention a four-diamond response to a no-trump opening was a transfer to four hearts: a four-heart response a transfer to four spades."

Jim: "The bidding in the hand shows that Carter's invention is a valuable play for South's capable hands. North's partner, what West opens. South is sure to make four spades and against the normal club lead South discards one of North's hearts on a club and another on a diamond to wind up with 11 tricks."

Oswald: "When I got back from the Korean war in 1952 this bid was getting some acceptance. I adopted it enthusiastically. The bid had two weaknesses. The first was that you got very little chance to use it. The second was that when you responded four hearts to a no-trump opening partner was likely to forget it."

Jim: "How did you invent the Jacoby transfer which extends his idea to the two level and makes the transfer bid common enough so partners don't forget it?"

Oswald: "I didn't really invent it. I just developed it: made it practical and got my name on it."

What do you do now?

A—Your choice is between a conservative three hearts and an optimistic jump to four hearts. We are conservative with a bidding partner and take the high ground with one who is an underbidder.
